

RBC Energy Insight

Insightful, Timely, Comprehensive.

In the dynamic commodities markets, it is important to know you have current accurate information to help you make informed decisions on your commodity trades. RBC Energy Insight is your online destination for:

- In-depth relevant data commentary on the global Crude Oil market, North American Natural Gas and Power markets as well as Macroeconomic conditions.
- Insightful analysis through interactive charts.

Key Features

- Comprehensive, interactive graphs on Crude Oil, U.S. and Canadian Natural Gas, Economics, Power, Carbon, Agriculture, and Coal.
- Access current market knowledge with research publications available from our in-house team. Gain daily insight on the prior trading day activities and current data for each respective market with our Energy Markets Daily publication. In addition, our Monthly Oil and Gas Review provides examination of key factors impacting oil and gas markets and their implications for pricing and hedging decisions. Our Commodities group ensures clients stay informed with both our Weekly EIA Crude Stock and Weekly EIA Natural Gas Storage reports.

About Us

RBC Capital Markets' Commodities group provides leading international sales and trading capabilities focused on petroleum products (including crude oil, heating oil, residual fuel oil, jet fuel, and gasoline), financial and physical natural gas, carbon emissions, base and precious metals, agricultural products and electricity markets. Our strong North American and European commodities presence, and long history in various aspects of the oil and gas industry, allows us to provide clients with timely insights and necessary liquidity.

We address the needs of a diverse client base:

- Producer Groups: exploration and producing firms, refining
- Consumer Groups: mining, manufacturing, agriculture, transportation
- Public Sector: school boards, municipal services, universities
